COMMON COVERAGE GAP FOR THIS CLASS

The most commonly missed exposure for this class is fire or gas after the repair. A gas connection or dryer vent that fails after the technician leaves can burn a home, and some policies limit coverage for work on gas appliances. Repair companies should leak-test every gas connection, warn customers in writing about unsafe vents, and screen technicians who work in customers' homes.

This checklist is a free educational tool from Cory Washington & Co. to help you review your own coverage and have a more informed conversation with a licensed insurance professional. It is general information only — not insurance, legal, or financial advice, and not a recommendation to buy, change, or cancel any policy. The Core / Prevalent / Situational labels describe general patterns observed for this class of business — what is commonly carried, not a personalized recommendation or needs analysis for your specific operations. Coverage terms, availability, limits, and requirements vary by policy, carrier, and state, and only the language in your actual policy governs what is and isn't covered. Checking or leaving blank any item above does not indicate that you are adequately insured or under-insured. Using this checklist does not create a client, agency, or fiduciary relationship.
