COVERAGE	WHY THIS BUSINESS NEEDS IT	PRIORITY
☐ Products & Completed Operations Liability	Covers injuries and illness from products sold — the core coverage.	CORE
☐ Product Contamination / Recall	Covers recall costs after contamination, including pathogen and mycotoxin recalls.	CORE
☐ Commercial Property & Business Income	Covers the plant and lost income.	CORE
☐ Umbrella / Excess Liability	Adds limits for class actions over pet deaths.	PREVALENT
☐ Workers' Compensation	Required in most states for employees.	CORE

COMMON COVERAGE GAP FOR THIS CLASS

The most commonly missed gap for this class is recall coverage for raw products. In January 2025, FDA required raw pet food makers to add H5N1 bird flu to their food safety plans after cats in four states died from contaminated food. Pet food recalls also follow Salmonella, aflatoxin, and nutrient errors, and pet-death class actions follow recalls. Manufacturers should carry contamination and recall coverage and update their plans for H5N1.

This checklist is a free educational tool from Cory Washington & Co. to help you review your own coverage and have a more informed conversation with a licensed insurance professional. It is general information only — not insurance, legal, or financial advice, and not a recommendation to buy, change, or cancel any policy. The Core / Prevalent / Situational labels describe general patterns observed for this class of business — what is commonly carried, not a personalized recommendation or needs analysis for your specific operations. Coverage terms, availability, limits, and requirements vary by policy, carrier, and state, and only the language in your actual policy governs what is and isn't covered. Checking or leaving blank any item above does not indicate that you are adequately insured or under-insured. Using this checklist does not create a client, agency, or fiduciary relationship.
